Pearl Harbor Aviation Museum Announces Scholarship lineup for 2019; Museum Now Accepting Applications

Honolulu, HI – Pearl Harbor Aviation Museum is now accepting applications from Hawaii residents for the following scholarships:

- Frank Der Yuen Aviation Scholarship: Frank Der Yuen was an internationally respected aeronautical engineer, airline executive, and consultant. A graduate of Harvard and MIT he designed the all-weather, self-propelled passenger loading bridges for airliners that are in use today at every major airport. The Frank Der Yuen Aviation Scholarship offers financial grants to Hawaii residents who have been accepted or are enrolled in an aviation-related program at an accredited trade school, college, or university. "This scholarship encourages personal growth and academic achievement for individuals pursuing goals in aviation," said Museum Director of Education & Visitor Experience Shauna Tonkin
- Col. Robert P. "Rob" Moore Scholarship for Initial Pilot Training or FAA Certified Flight Instructor Training: Col. Robert P. Moore began flying as a young adult in Raleigh, NC, and earned the Air Transportation Pilot certificate in multiengine airplanes, and Commercial Pilot in single engine land and sea airplanes, gliders, and lighter-than-air. Col. Moore also earned FAA Certified Flight Instructor certificates in many aircraft, and has enjoyed introducing many students to the thrill of flying. Col. Moore recognizes that the cost of obtaining pilot certifications at all levels is continually increasing, and is often a deterrent for those who want to fly.
