Welcoming the History Channel and Lionsgate

A Note from our Executive Director, Elissa Lines

Aloha. We continue on what has been a fast and furious pace since the beginning of the year. Flight sims continue to provide a wonderful boost to our visitor experience as does the new orientation approach. Visitors appreciate getting an overview that helps them better experience our story. Over the next week, we will welcome the History Channel and the team from Lionsgate. We are very excited to support the pre-movie press junket requirements of the Lionsgate team, providing some authentic background for their interviews with members of the cast. Our SBD will be featured as will our grounds, the control tower and the interior of both Hangar 37 and 79. Supporting these movie shoots takes a great deal of effort - many thanks to our staff and volunteer teams who make this possible. Last month, we came together to say farewell and best wishes to Gerry Joering who, after years of tremendous service, decided to retire. I hope you will join me in wishing him well. I would also like to ask all of you to join me in sending healing thoughts to our special friend Richard Gould. We have him in our hearts and hope for his return to our midst.
